60 / 30 / 10

60% background, 30% main color, 10% accent. The accent is only for buttons and key words.

Contrast

Dark text on light background. White text on the accent button. If it is hard to read, it loses clicks.

Mobile sizes

Headline 28 to 36px, body 16 to 18px, buttons 18px bold. Most ad traffic is on phones.

Funnel vs Landing Page vs Website

Plus the GHL build checklist for lead generation with ads.

Landing page

- One page, one goal
- No menu, one button
- Best for one ad, one offer
- In GHL: a funnel with 1 step

Funnel

- 2 to 5 pages in order
- Opt-in, booking, thank you
- Best for paid ads and email
- In GHL: Sites › Funnels

Website

- Many pages with a menu
- Builds trust, wins Google search
- Home, Services, About, Reviews, Contact
- In GHL: Sites › Websites

Rule of thumb

- Ads go to a funnel, not the home page
- Headline repeats the ad's offer
- Website is where people double-check you
- Funnel is where they act

Build checklist

1. Form first: Sites › Forms. Name, phone, email, 1 qualifying question.
2. Sites › Funnels › New funnel. Steps: Opt-in, Booking, Thank you. Short paths.
3. In the builder, set Typography (headline + content font) and colors before you design.
4. Opt-in page: offer headline, result sub-headline, form, 3 benefits, real photos, reviews, one more button.
5. Booking step: calendar element. Thank you step: what happens next.
6. Funnel Settings: domain, paths, Meta Pixel or Google tag in Head tracking code.
7. Workflow: Form submitted › tag › opportunity › text in 1 minute › notify team.
8. Check Mobile Mode in the builder, then test the live link on your phone.
9. Client approves before anything is published.

Ads lead gen: what to measure weekly

- Cost per lead
- Lead to booked call rate (speed to lead: text in 1 minute, call in 5)
- Booked to won rate. Fix the weakest step first, not the ad.
